6. Why is South County Health no longer in-network with Aetna Medicare Advantage?

This decision is part of a larger national issue affecting many hospitals:

- Many health systems — including others here in Rhode Island — are facing similar disputes with various insurance companies due to recent changes these insurers have made within their Medicare Advantage products.
- Many insurance companies are making policy changes on their own that increase their profits but significantly reduce payments to hospitals.
- These changes make reimbursement levels unsustainable for hospitals.
- This puts more pressure on a healthcare system that is already strained.
- Aetna's Medicare Advantage policy changes have been widely criticized by hospitals and national healthcare organizations, including the American Hospital Association.

Accepting a new contract under these terms would make it difficult for South County Health to maintain high-quality services for the community.

We remain hopeful that Aetna may reverse these policies. If that happens, South County Health would welcome the chance to resume participating with Aetna Medicare Advantage.
